"Education is the cheapert defence of a nation " "It is cheaper to educate a young to

" th" to sapport un vid These are maxima generally acknowledged in our country, and upply with great force to the maintenance of our public schools. Yet how few feel the importance of the subject, how few palents, guardiens, library and professional men, visit our schools, and labor to elevate their character and extend their usefulness. There is a strong and healthful disposition in the people of Maine to pay a liberal sum for the support of schools, and they thus show an abstract idea of, and a love for, the best interests of the rising generation. But this alone will not suffice. There must be a personal interest manifested by a personal attention, not to the existence merely, but to the progress of the schools. - There is, particularly in our city, great need of much personal effort, and sacrifice of time, in offleating together and bringing under the infldence of schools in existence, a large class of boys who roam our strects, wander about the hie or a felon's cell. These young beings, en dowed with immortal natures, ought early immediately, to be rescued from their present per-Hous situation, and movided into candidates for Billet congition I he wants of distant coun tries may well claum the benevolent sympathy that binds all hearts, but a nearer and more earnest sympathy should be felt, and a quicker achon put forth, for the rising thousands around us," in our streets, the playmates and associates of our children, who are exposed to all the dark miseries of an uncultivated intellect, and stifled moral powers.

These "infant men" are soon to take an active part in the drama of life, to deposit their votes in the ballot box, and give their voice in forming public opinion, and in a political view, every man in the community, childless though , he may be, has a deep and absorbing interest in the education of the young. The institutions of our country, the perpetuity of liberty, the continuance of ail the blessed fruit of morals and virtue, and integrity and religion, are to be effected for good of well by the rising generation; and if all the light of science and of love, are not to be quenched forever and buried beneath the rubbish of licentiousness and passion, the friends of humanity must bestir themselves in the work set before them

ALT We have observed, with much pleasure, the present season than formerly, and that there is a very perceptible improvement in taste in enabellishing private residences with shrubbery | the encouragement and assistance of others and flowers. As most of our private dwellings I here is but one course left her, and that is, to are situated, but little opportunity is given for the cultivation of shrubbery, and this should cuitivated ground, stocked with perenntals or even annual flowering plants. Shrubbery al ways appears well in any little enclosure at the from the road.

Where the space alloted to a flower garden is small, great neatness must be the prevailing terratic, and without which it appears like a well dressed lady with a dirty face! A very good way is to rame the beds two or three inches with a tarf edge, allowing pretty good width to the walks, with a crowning or raised centre and well gravelled, or a still neater method is to have the beds and walks on a level the beds of very fine, silky soil, and -*parated from the walks by a row of single sprigs of box, and the walks well spread with fine grey gravel, or psunded granite, or blue sand, and rolled hard Fither of the above methods will do very well much better than a mess of carpentry in the shape of boards, joist, &c sometimes thought leasly used, and which are an eye sore, and a violation of good taste.

Trees in villages and cities appear to good ad vantage in any situation except when seen so near a house as to interfere to the injury of the tabs or house, or so placed as to preclude a neat view of a fine specimen of architecture Outside of private enclosures, along the borders of atteets, they always appear well; more comfort able, indeed, than in any other situation, for then every one feels perfect freedom in walking beneath their shape, and a sort of joint owner ship in their noble trunks, and outs'retched people.

Accident A little girl, the daughter of Mr. Supply Dean, of this city was run over by a home and gig yesterday, and seriously, though it is thought not very dangerously, injured I be -heel parved diagonally over the head of the child and across the shoulder, and though she - "bruised very badly, not a bone was broken

[For the Whig and Courier] e. Urane the commences and of the late disturbe an i nam den frantier i mar bud en opportunie ty of Ouversing in Studyent parts of the country, with men of all classes and parties, respecting the enurse pursued by the Executive of our State, and the ansfority in the Legislature, and it has been a matter of constant regret and chagrin, that every one, or nearly every one, condemns it as trifling and pusillanimous All of a file of the Journal de Commercie of Rio de hase noticed the undignited language in the public documents of our Chief Magistrate, as injurious to our cause, and derogatory to the State At one time, too, " die or live, sink or swim, 'he was all for war at another, there was such backing and filling, that you could not lell where to find him. It was at one time, ""Run, Strickland, run" On, Hodsdon, * on," at another

Gov Fairfield seems to have ected wholly with a view to his political aggrandizement, and that of his party, "here or elsewhere" Ind mit that his course at the outset was rather commendable but in indging a public officer, we have to look at his whole doings - at the end, the result, as well as the beginning, and from the whole evidence before as, condemn or acwherees and fields, and correcting for a realess quite as the case may be And according to this rule, or, indeed, any rule of weighing one a conduct how would Gov Fairfi ld stand? minus, I think, any title to a man of firmness, to a atatesman, or to the office which he now fills

How stands the case of our North Eistern Boundary now ? Why, far more unfavorable peptral years to to the Frunck Adamat; of will, that feel the existence of the membrane than a did before the late war-like movements protecting against the proceeding, which was in that quarter. And have these movements unsinctioned by precedent, and would not be raised the character of our State, and her inhabitants in point of military prowess? Or conditional surrend rof the crigs what can be effected in future towards maintain ing our tawfut jurisdiction, by any similar dem onstration of arms? I say nothing about our additional public debt though God only knows how it is to be defrayed, while our almost only means of supplying the State Treasury, are at the disposal of a foreign power

As I said in the outset, gentlemen, with whom I have conversed on this subject, seem to have risen superior to party influences and prejudices, and to speak out their real feel ngs, which have been those of unmixed disapprobation With the exception of a few querulous papers, the American Press, so far as I can learn, admitted Maine to be in the right, and

"Three armed is be that bath his outrret pat," believing her to be in the right would have defended the position she had taken, had she but allown a disposition to maintain it herself. Now however, that she has not been true to her own interests, in basely burrendering a large portion of her territory, (and no less valuable that greater attention is being paid to gardening | than large,) to foreign jurisdiction, and again agreeing to submit the whole matter to new and never-ending negoctiation how can she expect

By the by, speaking of John Buli, I was con versing with a mult, not long since, about the troubles in Maine, when he very gravely inquir ed, " who is John Bull of whom I have heard so much said lately? Is it that Mr Sir John Harvey ? " I answered, "he is the personification of the English nation, and Sir John Harvey is his lineal representative is cold despair! I heard it once from lips as fair, heard it in an uncet aftere, Now I am left on earth aione, And the is where?

How have those well known sounds renewed. The dreams of earlier, happier hours, When life a descrt now was strewed With fairy flowers

Then all was bright, and fond, and fair, Now flowers are laded, joys are fled, And heart and hope are with the dead, For she is where?

Can I then love the air she loved? Can I then hear the melting strain

Which brings her to my soul again, Calm and unmoved? And thou to blame my tears forbear, For while I list, sweet maid to thee, Remembrance whispers, "auch was she," And she is where?

During this time she made use of almost every thing which had like i recommended to her argood for the complaint, but found little relief, and had formed the conclusion that there was no help for her. In 1837, she and her child (aix months old) were so badly affected that the had but little rest, day or night, the child become had but little rest, day or night, the child being almost covered with sorts, and had been in this state for evernimently. A brother of mine, knowing the distress of mismilly, addressed me by all means to make trial of Trushust's Compound for Sak Rheum. Agreeably to his advise, I purchased a quantity of thand applied it as directed, and I can safely say that in two of three days, they found great relief, and in four week's time, the disorder entirely discipled in the content of the same of the relief, and in four week's time, the disorder entirely disappeared. Since that, they have been free from all humors whetever, and enjoy good health, and I have reason to believe are perfectly cured. I have lost two children with the same complaint. Had the same medicine been applied to them, I have god reason to believe that they would now have been living. I value the Compound high Iv as a remedy for that awful disease, and with pleasure would recommend it to all who may be afflicted with it HUSTON STINSON.

LOZENGES;
AN APPROVED BEMEDY FOR COSTIVENESS AND DYSPEPSIE.

MIS medicine is not put torch as a universal losstrum, calculated to cure all the diseases incident to humanity, but rather as a means of preventing them. It may salely be stated that ince tenths of the most serious maladies arise from an unhealthy action of the stomach and howels or liver, inducing as a natural consequence indigestion and its results; such as head ache, acidity of the stomach, heart burn, flutulency, nausea, lowness of spirits jaundice and a whole catalogue of other timely and persevering use of this remedy. The most engent objection, to Apericula in general is, that containing some drastic purgative, they feave, after their operation has ceased, a torpicity of the stomach andbowels producing consequences which their administration was intended to ecreect. Such effects will not follow the use of these Loz-

complaints, which may be entirely removed by a

TO FÉMÁLES IN DELICATE HEALTH. The Peristative Lozenges are strongly recommended to the notice of every Lady having obunited the sanction and appendencer of several eminent gentlemen of the Medical Profession, as a safe and valuable medicine in removing obstructions and reliefing all other inconveniences to which the female frame is liable, especially those which arise at an early period of life, from want-of exercise and general debility of the system. They create an appetite, correct indigestion, remove giddiness and nervous head ache, and are eminently usefulin windy disorders, pains in the stomach, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart. Being perfectly innocent, they can be taken at any time and under any circumstances. The most delicate female, when an aperient a required. may have recourse to them, and they will not as a preventive against those nervous and hysterical affections which so frequently arise from contin-

Te individuals travelling, more particularly seafaring persons, when from change of habit or elimate, the liver and bowels become inscrive and costivenessfollows as an invariable result, these Lozenges will prove invaluable. One individual writes, 'I consider mysolf-cured of costiveness, to which I was always subject the moment I left the land, solely by the use of your medicine." proprietor is continually receiving orders from his scalaring friends for the Lezenges. When they are to be carried to sea, they ought always to be started from the box in which they are packed and put into tight hottles. In this way they may be kept good for any length of time

The proprietor offers them as a cure for nervous head ache and general neuralgie affections. Very remarkable cores might be published if thought necessary.

Mr. Milhan, the agent in New York, writes. "I think it no longer necessary to advertise to the extent, as heretolure; the Lozenges are now well known. I am daily receiving the most satisfactory accounts of them, and I shall always recommend them to my customers "

The very-questionable reputation which a medi cine derives from the fashionable practice of publishing a long list of certificates, from persons whom nobody knows has induced the proprietor to forego the opportunity of onering to the public the many commendations which he is daily receiving of these Lozenges, trusting rather to their own merits; which will be apparent to all on trial, and the respectability of his numerous agents. These Lorenges have been in use for two years, the general approbation they have met with from our first families, establishes their merits and makes further remarks unnecessary. They are packed in boxes which may be carried in the pocket and sold athity cents per box -
